A Memo to Your Top Management Team: #31 “Decision Maker’s Checklist”

Top Management is responsible for the performance of all your company’s processes. Your profits are critically dependent on this. Do you agree?

A very important determinant of your company’s processes performance is the process training you deliver your process workers. Do you agree?

Top Management is responsible for this. Do you agree? If so, read on.

When you evaluate any choice of process training it is a great aid to have a Checklist to “audit” your potential process training choice.

Brain Cable has developed a Custom Process Training system for the creation and delivery of process training and testing. Testing is a very important component of the training process.

Brain Cable’s Process Training satisfies ALL of the criteria listed in the “The Management Decision Makers’ Checklist”. You may download this Checklist from www.braincable.com. It should be a great help.

This also is extensively discussed in the Executive Briefing Brain Cable offers to your top management team. The Executive Briefing is delivered via a teleconference and is very flexible in the scheduling. A little of your time will yield massive results. I urge you to call today. Time is money.

I invite you to accept our Invitation below to learn all about it, via our Executive Briefing.
